Subject matter expert in police use of force, firearms, Tasers, pepper spray, reality-based training, curriculum development, and law-enforcement procedures. I am the founder of Police Weapons Training & Consulting and a retired Detective and instructor from the New York City Police Department Firearms & Tactics Section ("FTS"). I served in the Curriculum Development Unit within the Training Coordinator's Office, where I spent more than half of my twelve-year tenure developing curriculum, training instructors, and managing special projects. I personally trained thousands of NYPD officers in the safe and proficient use of firearms, and qualified over 1,000 officers in pepper (OC) spray and Conducted Electrical Weapons (Tasers). I also delivered Reality Based Training and simulator-based instruction to more than 1,000 officers. In addition, I certified over 800 instructor applicants in firearms, Taser, pepper spray, Reality Based Training, Simunition, and Ti use-of-force simulator instruction. My lesson plans have been used to train tens of thousands of police officers, and I hold numerous New York State and manufacturer certifications as an instructor and master instructor across multiple force options. I am currently a firearms and use of force trainer for the New York City Department of Probation.

Scope of Work:

- Testified multiple times in New York State criminal and civil courts, as well as in an NYPD administrative trial. Produced multiple Expert Reports and Affidavits. Recognized by various courts as a subject matter expert in Tasers, pepper spray, use of force, police training, firearms, police tactics, and police procedures. Additionally consulted as a subject matter expert by more than a dozen international, federal, state, and local agencies.

- Authored and revised major NYPD lesson plans delivered to tens of thousands of officers across all ranks. Notable examples include: Use of OC Spray; Use of Force; multiple In-Service Pistol Qualification Cycles; Advanced Tactical Leadership; Taser X26P CEW End User; Taser 7 CEW Operator; Patrol Tactics; Tactical Training Centers; FTS Overview; substantial portions of the recruit-training curriculum; and other core instructional programs.

- As a firearms instructor and master instructor in Tasers, pepper spray, Reality Based Training, Simunition, and the Ti Force Options Simulator, served as course director and lead trainer responsible for certifying hundreds of departmental instructors across multiple manufacturer, State, and NYPD certification programs.

- Served as the sole NYPD representative on the New York State Division of Criminal Justice Services (DCJS) curriculum enhancement panel responsible for updating the statewide Basic Course for Police Officers initial firearms curriculum (Also eventually used as the basis for NYS Peace Officer training). This work resulted in approval by the New York State Municipal Police Training Council (MPTC) and adoption of the new statewide recruit firearms training standard. Additionally, served as one of two NYPD representatives on a DCJS panel that overhauled and modernized New York State Firearms Instructor training, which received MPTC approval and went into effect in December 2024. Also assisted in developing a five-day instructor workshop to certify existing instructors statewide in the new curriculum.

- Conducted and supervised more than 800 instructor-level certifications across firearms, Taser, pepper spray, Reality Based Training, and force-options simulators, ensuring departmental compliance with State, manufacturer, and NYPD training standards.

- Selected as one of two FTS instructors sent to the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan to assess national police training facilities, equipment, and curricula. Developed a comprehensive “train-the-trainer” program and returned to Jordan to deliver a three-week course that was highly regarded by the head of the Jordanian Public Security Directorate and strengthened relations between the Kingdom and the NYPD Intelligence Bureau.

- Conducted Use-of-Force orientation and simulator-based training for civilians in more than 100 sessions, training over 3,400 participants between 2018 and 2024. This included at least 40 sessions for employees of the Kings, Queens, New York, and Bronx District Attorney’s Offices, totaling more than 1,000 participants.

- Provided expert consultation to numerous NYPD units and New York City agencies, including the Internal Affairs Bureau, Training Bureau, NYC Law Department, the New York State Attorney General’s Office, and multiple District Attorney’s Offices, on matters involving use of force, firearms, electronic control weapons, and police training.

- Led multiple high-impact Special Projects, including comparative testing of four personal defense sprays and presenting findings to the NYPD Uniform Equipment Committee. The Committee adopted my recommendations, resulting in the Department’s issuance of a new pepper spray formulation to all NYPD officers in 2025.
